CHAIRMAN SUMS UP THE CHALLENGES

We have concluded another momentous year when the events have shown that TISL is an indispensable institution at a critical moment of the history of our country.

We have reached a stage where there is a great need to ensure transparency in state actions and the corporate sector. irrespective of socio political realities

Instances of massive corruption and colossal wastage in the public sector were brought to light throughout the year by the Coalition against Corruption initiated by TISL. These exposures forced the authorities to initiate action in several instances.

Among many other success stories, we made a major breakthrough in getting Members of Parliament to respond to an invitation from TISL to participate in a round table discussion on formulating an action plan against corruption.

Meanwhile, throughout the country, the public sought redress from the free legal advice provided through TISL's 'Shelter for Integrity'.

A significant factor that emerged during the year was the enthusiasm of the youth in combating corruption. The Youth Integrity Survey revealed their concern and apprehension of the increasing canker in the society. TISL is in the process of planning programmes to get the public engaged and involved in anti-corruption work.

The People's Tribunal held to discuss the frequent electricity tariff hikes was another fine example of people's concern TISL led public discussions on national issues that affected the people and the active participation of the public at these has proved that the people are losing faith in power therefore there is a need to respect and protect the public trust. Transparency International as a global movement has recognized that impunity is a global problem that has undermined the public trust.

Our stakeholders and our membership are diverse. Our interventions are decisive. At this moment of history of our country we manage to survive in a critical civil society role to help improve governance. We are confident that collectively we can meet all possible collectively.

Operational challenges are becoming more and more difficult for NGOs but we are equally determined to carry on with our mission of building a nation on integrity. Finding sources for funds is becoming extremely difficult and in such a situation we are most grateful to the donors who continue to support us.

We feel most satisfied that local government authorities, particularly the elected members -irrespective of party affiliations - are most appreciative and enthusiastic in our effort to improve governance at regional level. The community leaders and the public are equally happy that through our well planned and well organized training sessions, workshops and seminars, they are able to play an active participatory role in the administrative machinery in their areas. We acknowledge the cooperation extended by the elected members, officials and the public towards the programmes we implemented.

It is my duty to mention the noteworthy contribution made by the earlier Board of Directors headed by chairman, M D A Harold – retired Deputy Auditor-General. The team has guided TISL throughout the formative years facing increasing challenges as the years went by.

Lack of resources has left TISL with no alternative but to reduce its staff. On behalf of the Board, I thank the stakeholders, media, TISL members, Executive Director S Ranugge and the staff for continuing the TISL's initiatives in anti-corruption activities and the promotion of integrity, governance and accountability.

PROGRESS AMIDST CHALLENGES

It was yet another challenging year for us at TISL. Having recognized the phenomenal increase in corruption in the country, from its 79th place in 2012 to 91st place in 2013 of the World Corruption Perception Index (CPI). The Transparency International Sri Lanka with its limited resources continued to carry out its anti-corruption work with high commitment and dedication.

'Shambashana', TISL's regular feature program continued its monthly dialogue on important issues of governance issues such as the electricity tariff hike, the milk powder contamination etc. and position papers too were developed to draw the attention of policy makers on such nationally significant subjects of national level.

The project on citizen engagement in local governance in the Galle district met with a great challenge as the government agent requested TISL to assist the local authority, Bope-poddala, which had the poorest performance of the province. Our intervention with the councilors and the officials of the local authority and the citizens with TISL tools has given space for the citizens to actively engage in the work of four sub-committees; participation in the public gallery, access to information and participatory budgeting. We continued to assist the other three local authorities at a reduced scale as we have been working with them over the past three years.

TISL work posed a challenge during the year under review as many donors indicated their intention to withdraw from Sri Lanka as the country has graduated to a lower middle income country status in 2010. The Norwegian Government which has been the core funder over the past few years signaled that they would discontinue funding from the following year. The project grants from TIS Secretariat were also cut down by one half compelling the TISL management to prone down its staff to a manageable level. The new Board of Directors tried their best revisiting the fund raising strategy and meeting donors but no significant progress was yet to be seen. However, the management has been able to secure some grants from Daikonia, Helvitas and the TIS Secretariat to continue its activities.

Finally, I take this opportunity to thank our donors, the Norwegian government, Transparency International Secretariat, National Endowment Fund for Democracy, Taiwan Foundation for Democracy, Daikonia for their continuous support, TISL Board of Directors for their guidance and encouragement and our staff for their genuine work, with dedication and cooperation.

S Ranugge Executive Director 17 June 2014

The programmes that were in operation were continued in 2013 too expanding its coverage. The ALAC program which provides legal advice to victims and witnesses of corruption that are expanded to the North has finalized plans for setting up a regional office at Vavuniya, making it the 4th regional office. Since its inception in early 2014, services provided by the office were well received by the citizens and the public officials of the province. Cooperation extended by the Government agent, Vavuniya and his staff and the Deputy Inspector General, Vanni was commendable and they have contributed immensely for it success within a short period of time.

Youth involvement in anticorruption work under the Youth Integrity Project (YIP) took a new turn establishing a youth network and organizing a youth walk in the city of Colombo on the World Anti-corruption Day. The Sri Lanka Youth (National Youth Council) played a lead role joining hands with us and mobilizing the youth to fight corruption. This has proved the accuracy of the findings of the Youth Survey that youth are willing to fight corruption.

The Coalition against Corruption which started at the end of the previous year has gained a momentum with guidance from TISL and organized itself and launched a vigorous campaign against cases of corruption in several government institutions like Education Employees'

OPERATIONAL REVIEW

ENCOURAGING RESPONSE FOR THE SHELTER FOR INTEGRITY

THE SHELTER FOR INTEGRITY - THE NATIONAL VERSION OF GLOBALLY DRIVEN ADVOCACY AND LEGAL ADVICE CENTRE (ALAC) - CONTINUED ITS PROGRAMME FOR THE SECOND YEAR SUCCESSFULLY.

In addition to the main Centre in Colombo, two regional Centres – one in the East in Batticaloa and the other in the South in Matara - provided the public with the opportunity of seeking legal advice free of charge when faced with an incident of corruption while obtaining a service from a state institution. By the end of 2013 a third regional office was ready to be opened in the North. The selected location was the town of Vavuniya. This was conceived as a preliminary step to expand TISL work into the Northern Province after the termination of 30 years of civil conflict.

The Shelter for Integrity Centre listened to around 3000 victims and witnesses of corruption and administrative malpractices during this period. Centers have been reached by people from each and every district of the Island. In addition to written complaints, individuals turned up at the offices to discuss their problems and get advice.

So far over a thousand (1708) complaints have been referred to relevant authorities/institutions through clients. Some cases have been referred to more than one institution. The majority of these have been forwarded to the Human Rights Commission of Sri Lanka and Divisional Secretaries who have land administrative powers within respective divisions.

Shelter for Integrity programme is not limited to providing legal advice. It has also been engaged in a number of advocacy campaigns such as Training of public officials on anti-corruption Initiatives, Round table discussions with public officials, awareness campaigns for leaders of the civil society, leaders training sessions on street dramas and legal advice broadcasted through radio programmes. Five Citizens' Committees have been set up attached to the regional centers.

The Shelter for Integrity conducted a programme to assist the officials who were willing to stand against malpractices and ensure integrity during the the Provincial Council elections held in three provinces in 2013.

The Centre was also willing to assist voters to seek either legal or administrative redresses against their grievances, if any, during the provincial elections.

TISL believes that the Centre will empower citizens to make and pursue corruption related complaints and bring about a change in their attitude towards corruption and realize that corruption is not insurmountable. The Centre is also able to support state institutions through evidence, solutions and capacity by building their own initiatives to eliminate corruption and enhance principles of good governance.

YOUTH READY TO BATTLE AGAINST CORRUPTION

ONE IN EVERY THREE YOUTH IN SRI LANKA IS ALWAYS WILLING TO ALWAYS RAISE HIS VOICE AGAINST CORRUPTION. ANOTHER SIMILAR NUMBER WOULD 'SOMETIMES' RAISE THEIR VOICE AGAINST CORRUPTION.

This was revealed at the survey done by TISL on the awareness of corruption among the youth in partnership with the National Youth Services Council - the State institution dealing with youth affairs in Sri Lanka. It was conducted among 1005 persons between the ages of 15 to 29 representing all communities and regions (both urban and rural) in the country. An additional one thousand adults were used as a control group.

The majority (84%) of the respondents believe that the lack of integrity is a serious problem not only affect their personal lives but also affect their families, economic prospects and the country as a whole. At least 56% feel that they can play a major role in combating corruption while another 36% feel that youth can play at least a limited role.

Statistics reveal that Sri Lanka has a youth population of five million, i.e. 26% of the total population.

The survey found that youth has an important role in the fight against corruption. They had a disappointingly low opinion of public officers, particularly within the police and local administration.

Among other findings of the survey were:
 Only 6% of youth at all education levels felt that they knew 'a lot' about corruption rules and regulations.

 45% of the youth respondents felt that their voice will not have any effect on corruption.

An additional 23% felt that raising their voice against corruption was not their business.

 A high percentage of more than 80% would display unethical behaviour to secure employment or to obtain. This was more likely for male than female youth, and for rural than urban youth. 40% of urban and 23% of rural youth were willing to engage in unethical behaviour in certain situations to please a relative or simply because "it is how things are done".

 Urban youth were more likely to value integrity absolutely than their rural counterparts.

• Sri Lankan youth have access to a wide variety of media, including TV (31%) radio (20%) and mobile phones (18%). However lack of internet access in most parts of the country has resulted in getting information by a lower number of youth than expected to get information through social media or the internet (5% and 4% respectively).

According to the Lead Researcher, Dr Shantha Abeysinghe the survey revealed the attitude of youth towards integrity and corruption clearly and emphatically.

YOUTH INTEGRITY PROGRAMME MAKES PROGRESS

TISL was able to create an impact among the youth on the need to combat corruption and promote integrity-based values under numerous activities under the Youth Integrity Programme (YIP).

TISL played a key role in Youthlink - a group of organizations that work on youth related issues that have come together to promote their work and create awareness among youth through a web based medium.

Through the World Bank Youth Portal Forum TISL organised a programme to equip young academics in three universities (Jaffna, Peradeniya and Ruhuna) with concepts related to Right to information. TISL's role in the programme was to share the YIP survey findings and the provisions available in Sri Lanka to access of information among them and show them the importance of having the right to access information.

CLOSE RELATIONSHIP WITH NYSC CONTINUES

After a number of consultation meetings with the National Youth Service Council (NYSC) on a more concrete form of collaboration, it was decided that both parties should work together to develop a Training Manual for youth. In order to formalize this agreement TISL signed a MoU with the NYSC in October 2013. TISL considered this agreement as a significant success of the Youth programme as it is often difficult to sign MoUs with State related institutions to promote anticorruption and governance related work.

The signing of the MOU followed the positive approach of the NYSC in agreeing to provide access to their district level officers and wide network to approach the youth to discuss the issue of corruption. The activity based training module will be developed with the participation of youth that will build youth capacity in terms of leadership, communication and integrity based values. The module will be incorporated into their training curricular in order to make sure that it will have a long term

TRAINING WORKSHOPS

An anti-corruption workshop was also held for the Association of Friendship and Love

(AFRIEL) network
- a group based in the Northern Province. Forty

YOUTH WALK FOR INTEGRITY

He agreed to share the document with the relevant authorities.

A highly successful Youth Walk was held to mobilize youth in the fight against corruption. The objective of the walk was twofold: to demonstrate the commitment of vouth towards values of integrity, and to make vound people be aware of the negative impact of corruption that would affect their future. The walk intended to bring together young people from all walks of life to one platform and increase their network of support where they will be encouraged to become changing agents who tackle

In order to make the walk more inclusive and successful TISL decided to partner with the National Youth Services Council and the Sri Lanka Federation of Youth Clubs.

Nearly five hundred youth took part carrying placards with anti-corruption slogans and at the end of the Walk they gathered at the Vihara Maha Devi Open Theatre.

There the anti-corruption communiqué which was drafted with the input of vouth was read out to all of the participants present in Sinhala and Tamil to the participants present. They endorsed the document which was presented to the Secretary to the Ministry of Youth Affairs and Skill Development who graced the occasion.

CARTOON AND SLOGAN COMPETITIONS

An island-wide anticorruption cartoon competition and an anti-corruption slogan competition provided the youth with an opportunity to use their creativity to fight corruption. The competitions were open to two categories of youth: School Category – 15 to 18 years and Open Category - 19 to 29 years. The response was quite good. The slogans could be submitted either in English, Sinhala or Tamil on how youth can fight corruption. TISL received 134 slogans in both categories and in all three languages. Independent panels of judges evaluated the entries in above competitions and selected the winners.

TISL intends to engage the participants in future youth based activities in future. The Judges encouraged TISL to organize an awareness raising program for all the participants to increase their knowledge and stimulate their interest on anti-corruption issues. In order to encourage them to engage in the fight against corruption and enhance their knowledge on anti-corruption

TISL organized a half a day workshop for them. The workshop instilled different forms of corruption and the negative impact it can have on their lives and their future in the young winners and in their parents.

PEOPLE'S TRIBUNAL ON ELECTRICITY TARIFF

TISL BROKE NEW GROUND IN DISCUSSING ELECTRICITY TARIFF HIKES, A BURNING ISSUE OF THE DAY AT A COURT-ROOM STYLE FORUM. SEVERAL WITNESSES WERE SUMMONED TO TESTIFY BEFORE A PEOPLE'S TRIBUNAL THAT WAS INVESTIGATING WHETHER THE INCREASES IN ELECTRICITY TARIFFS IN THE COUNTRY WERE JUSTIFIED.

The three-hour public forum titled 'Is the electricity bill justified?' was conducted in courtroom style, at the J.R. Jayewardene Centre in Colombo 7 . Sitting as tribunal judges at the forum were retired High Court Judge W.T.M.P.B. Warawewa, Attorney-at-Law S.G. Punchihewa, former Advisor to the Ministry of Power and Energy Dr. Janaka Ratnasena and former Secretary, Posts and Telecommunications Ministry Piyatissa Ranasinghe.

Eleven witnesses were called before the Tribunal to 'give evidence' on whether the country's electricity tariffs were justified from the perspective of consumers. Ranging from retired public servants to ordinary citizens, witnesses before the tribunal cited broad Government sector corruption, poor energy policy, the poor management and inefficiency of the Ceylon Electricity Board and a lack of public consultation and participation in formulating a state policy.

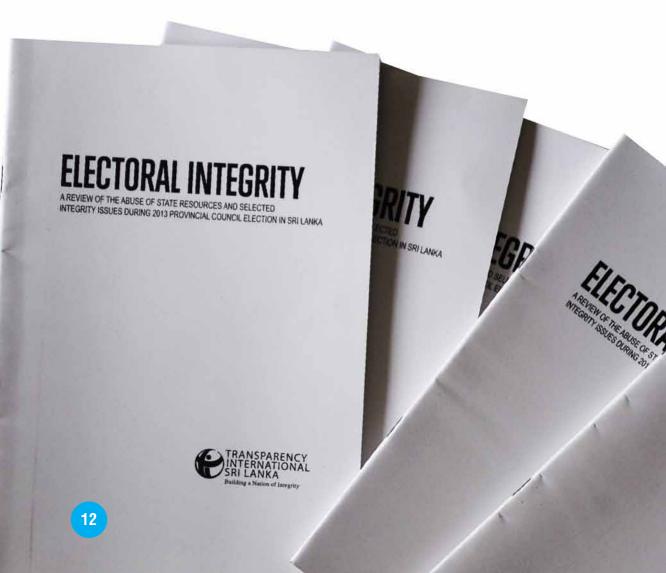

Many of the witnesses complained that following the tariff hike, attempts to reduce consumption had proved futile since electricity bills were still higher than pre-increase despite lower unit usage.

The panel of judges and prosecutors called on the witnesses to submit documentary proof about the corruption and wastage at CEB and the electricity bills proving the exponential increase in tariffs to the tribunal for perusal.

MONITORING THE MISUSE OF PUBLIC RESOURCES AT PROVINCIAL ELECTIONS

THE PROVINCIAL COUNCIL ELECTIONS HELD IN THE NORTHERN, NORTH-WESTERN AND CENTRAL PROVINCES CAME UNDER THE SCRUTINY OF TISL'S PROGRAMME TO PROTECT PUBLIC RESOURCES (PPPR) – THE STUDY OF ELECTION MALPRACTICES CONDUCTED DURING THE PRESIDENTIAL, PARLIAMENTARY AND PROVINCIAL ELECTIONS IN SRI LANKA SINCE 2001.

The objective is to prevent the misuse of public resources like government vehicles, SLTB buses and public buildings such as schools and regional offices.

During the provincial elections 2013, TISL monitored and investigated abuse of public property by political parties, candidates, officials or public institutions during the period prior to the provincial elections. Inaddition, public officials engaging in political campaigns were monitored.

Public complaints were entertained and the TISL staff worked alongside a team of investigators to inquire the complaints which were then forwarded to the Commissioner of Elections and other relevant authorities for necessary action.

The response from the public was encouraging and 165 complaints were received.

Releases were issued to media on a regular basis.

A group of identified competent community leaders identified was appointed as field coordinators for each electorate. They were given the dual responsibility of collecting information and verifying information in the field. They were the direct contact points of TISL.

TISL established a partnership with local level networks and used them as sub coordinators to assist the main field coordinators.

More than 360 monitors were involved in the process to submit regular reports on the misuse of public resources with evidence. In addition, TISL advanced in other ways, for instance the Coalition against Corruption and the introduction of the Network of Investigative Journalists as an integral part of the monitoring system.

The misuse of government vehicles by ruling party candidates from buses, lorries and double cabs to helicopters. And the physical use of public buildings and vacant lands and the participation of public servants from trainees to Provincial Governors was endorsed by the teams of investigators.

There was evidence to ාග ඉන්ටරනැෂනල් ශී

ஸ்பேரன்ஸி இன்டர்நஷனல் ஸ்ரீ லங்கா prove that over 300 vehicles belonging to the ministries, the departments and other institutions were used for election propaganda work. This was mainly due to the active involvement of almost all the ministers in the election campaign. Over a thousand public officials and other staff openly canvassed for the ruling party candidates.

TISL released a comprehensive report on the findings along with a series of recommendations with the hope of minimizing the misuse of public resources at future elections.

They received the awards from the world renowned Justice C.G.Weeramantry at the presentation ceremony held at the BMICH on 9th December – UN Anti-Corruption Day. A full house in Committee Room B, including politicians, diplomats and professionals witnessed the presentation. The two Special Mention winners exemplify in every way their courage and he determination exposing corruption at great personal risk.

This was the tenth successive year that the NIA presentation was held. Since it was launched in 2004. Awards were won by journalists, union activists, government officials and a leader of the civil society leader who had, all fought against corruption.

Saman Ratnapriya is an active trade unionist and is the president of the 'Rajaye Heda Sangamaya' and the Health Services Trade Union Coalition. He has been unearthing corrupt activities and malpractices in the Health Sector as well as other sectors. He started his trade union activities in 1969 and formed the Health Services TU Coalition in 2003.

Over the years he has exposed corruption in the purchase of drugs without proper tender procedures, use of drugs with foreign matter, purchase of low quality drugs and other malpractices.

In 2002, Rakshana Sewaka Sangamaya (RSS) was one of the ten trade unions in the Sri Lanka Insurance Corporation ion functioning as a small union with just 39 members (1%). Most were namely unions due to the stern anti-union attitude of the management at the time. Though the unions went underground, some were acting secretly against corruption and mismanagement.

While the major unions were inactive, RSS was bold enough to expose and demand a change in the management.

Since they could not function within the Corporation premises, they moved out and operated in a small office forming a wide network throughout the island and exposing the Corporation's malpractices through the media. They also took steps to keep the President and high officials informed of the malpractices.

ENCOURAGING RESULTS IN THE SOUTH

THE LOCAL GOVERNANCE PROGRAMME CONDUCTED BY TISL IN THE SOUTH IS BEARING FRUIT. THE PROGRAMME WAS INITIATED IN A CONTEXT WHEN THERE WAS LIMITED CITIZEN ENGAGEMENT IN THE GOVERNANCE PROCESSES.

The positive responses and enthusiasm of the citizen groups from all programme locations, the cooperation from top level administrators such as the Chairmen from Ambalangoda. Yakkalamulla and Bope Poddala. Local authorities itself is a testimonial that the TISL project is providing a space and a platform to address issues related to governance.

Commending the TISL initiative, the Commissioner of local government- Galle District. Chandima Muhandiramge commented that "Effective public participation in Provincial Administration and Development projects is a must".

Participation of the people of the Ambalangoda Urban Council area in preparing its Annual Budget and the cooperation of public officials and elected members of the Urban Council was a pioneering example set up by a local government institution. The annual budget of Rs 202 million consisted proposals put forward by citizens was passed by the council. The Chairman of Ambalangoda Urban Council chairman said that working together with TISL helped to bring about a positive change in attitudes of the staff about their roles and responsibilities and this in turn has improved service delivery and created a good impression about the council among citizens.

Yakkalamulla Pradeshiva Sabha (PS) earned 354.25 points becoming second in considerably improved the performance over the years. According to PS

Chairman Chandima Livanage the training obtained by the staff on transparency and accountability has helped them to improve performance and bring about an attitudinal change.

Meanwhile, members of the Bope Poddala Pradeshiva Saba (PS) in Galle > pledged their fullest cooperation to make the local authority more transparent and accountable.

The participation of most of the members from both the ruling party and the opposition was significant at training workshops conducted by TISL.

The project is funded by the National Endowment for Democracy (NED).

PUBLIC SERVICES HIGHLY APPRECIATED

THERE WAS A LOT OF INTEREST AND KEENNESS SHOWN BY THE RESIDENTS IN AND AROUND AMBALANGODA WHEN TISL ORGANISED A PUBLIC SERVICE DAY PROVIDING ESSENTIAL SERVICES TO THE PUBLIC.

They sought the services of public officials to obtain identity cards, passports and information relating to corruption mitigation, legal advice, foreign employment and pensions.

The stalls manned by officials of the Susari Sevana Advocacy and Legal Advice Center of the TISL, Department of Registration of Persons, Department of Immigration and Emigration, and Divisional Secretariat of Ambalangoda were 'invaded' throughout the day.

CIABOC, PAFERAL, Legal Aid Commission and Human Rights Commission also had stalls. Visitors found material exhibited at the stalls interesting and were seen spending time studying them.

TISL stall was a novel experience for the visitors where the display materials displayed highlighted TISL work relating to anti-corruption and governance.

Staff members of the Ambalagoda Divisional Secretariats especially the 'Grama Niladharis' had a busy time answering queries and providing numerous services to the public.

The People's Platforms and the Legal Clinic too attracted big crowds who raised questions relating to matters affecting them.

TISL'S OUTREACH PROGRAMME, 'SAMBHASHANA' HELD TO DISCUSS TOPICAL NATIONAL ISSUES CONTINUED FOR THE THIRD SUCCESSIVE YEAR.

Through discussion, TISL seeks to promote concepts of integrity among the public and to generate a debate on vital issues of governance that have an impact on the day to day life of people.

The milk powder issue, for example, created quite a stir among all sections of society and TISL moved in to discuss it with special reference to accountability of regulators.

The future of the Executive Presidency was a much talked about subject in 2013. A 'Sambhasaha' programme took up the issue to debate whether the Executive Presidency should be abolished before the next Presidential election.

Yet another burning issue of the day is the breakdown of the Rule of Law and a lively discussion took place. The discussions held with a representative gathering present attracted substantial interest by media.. Knowledgeable panelists are selected to lead the discussions. Among them were parliamentarians – both from the Government and Opposition-, academics, professionals, trade unionists, social activists and community representatives.

So far conducted more than 25 discussions conducted were conducted under Chatham House Rules and all of them were open to public.

Meanwhile, a Position Paper was released on the much discussed Impeachment of Chief Justice Shirani Bandaranayake and the related issue about the independence of the Judiciary.

MASSIVE FRAUDS REVEALED

THE COALITION AGAINST CORRUPTION FACILITATED BY TISL EXPOSED A NUMBER OF FRAUDS AND OTHER CORRUPT ACTIVITIES IN THE PUBLIC SECTOR INSTITUTIONS LEADING TO OFFICIAL INQUIRIES BEING HELD ON THE ISSUES.

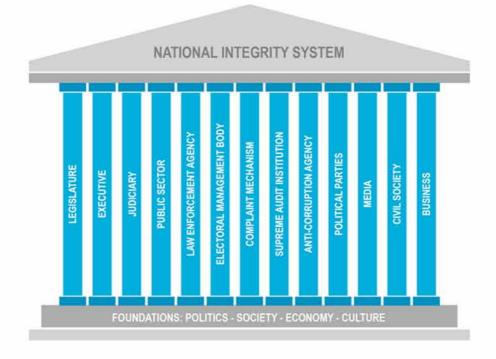

Among the cases exposed during 2013 were:

- The disappearance of 600 million rupees deposited in a state bank by the Education Employees' Cooperative, Thrift & Credit Society Ltd has affected around 150,000 members of the society who are unable to obtain loans and other facilities. The society which dates back to 1930 comprises nearly 150,000 members.
- Corrupt deals in the Ceylon Petroleum Corporation (CPC) resulting in heavy financial losses to the CPC. These related to the agreement between CPC and PV Oil Singapore.
- Corruption and malpractices in the Gem and Jewellery Research & Training Institute in Ratnapura resulting in the Institute facing a grave crisis.
- Over Rs. 3000 million rupees has been swindled during the road constructions and developments by the North Central Province Road Development Authority (NCP RDA) prior to the 2012 Deyata Kirula exhibition. Two of its highest ranking officers had been interdicted and investigations started against allegations of massive corruption.
- The proposed 500 Megawatt coal fired power plant at Sampur will incur a loss of Rs 763 million per year, once commissioned, according to current prices each consumer would have to pay Rs.1,525 per year to recover the losses.
- Corruption is rampant especially in leading schools in cities as money is being collected from students despite the many circulars issued against it.
- The media gave wide coverage to these when revealed at press conferences.

ASSESSING NATIONAL INTEGRITY AGENCIES

WORK WAS STARTED IN ASSESSING THE NATIONAL INTEGRITY SYSTEMS (NIS) TO MEASURE THE STATUS OF THE KEY INSTITUTIONS THAT ARE CRITICAL TO TACKLING CORRUPTION.

This is the second time that TISL is compiling the NIS report. The report, to be released in 2014, will update the information presented in the report of 2010 and identify weaknesses in the overall governing structure of the country while recommending advocacy measures to address these concerns.

Thirteen institutions or pillars assessed in the National Integrity Systems Assessment are amongst the most crucial. They are the Legislature, Executive, Judiciary, Public Sector, Law enforcement agencies, Elections Commission, Complaint mechanisms, Auditor General, Anti-corruption Commission, Political Parties, Media, Civil society and Businesses. The story will show how well these institutions perform identifying strengths and weaknesses in the existing laws and the corresponding practices. When one of these institutions is weak or too strong it is easier for corruptions to thrive.

The report will feed into a regional report on the status of governance in South Asia.
